

A smart shoe provides relief to diabetic feet

EPFL researchers have developed a shoe sole with valves that electronically control the pressure applied to the bottom of diabetic feet. This therapy will help treat serious foot ulcers and reduce the risk of amputation.

Mini shock absorber

